

Behavior Management: Children with “Reactive Attachment Disorder” (RAD)

Saturday, March 17, 2007
9:00 am – 12:00 pm

*Community Youth Services,
2nd Floor, Goldberg Room
711 State Avenue NE, Olympia, WA 98506*

This workshop will address:

- What is “Reactive Attachment Disorder”?
- How does RAD impact behavior, temperament and relationships in families?
- Understanding the levels of attachment and how foster families can develop healthy relationships with RAD.
- Effective behavior management for youth with attachment challenges.
- Multi-Systemic planning for youth with RAD.
Schools, DSHS, Birth/Extended Families, Therapy, etc.

Presented by Scott Hanauer, MA

Scott is the Clinical Director at Community Youth Services in Olympia, Washington. Scott has worked with “at risk” children and families for more than twenty years as a case manager, in residential treatment, as a therapist and as a statewide director for out-of-home care programs for Children’s Home Society of Washington. Scott has also written a parent education curriculum for the Federal Bureau of Prisons for inmates who are returning to their families. Scott currently teaches this course at the Federal Detention Center in Seattle.

Cost is $10.00 per person (CYS will waive this fee for CYS foster parents and staff)

To register please contact one of the following people by Wednesday, January 17, 2007

Amanda Phinney at (360) 943-0780 x104 or aphinney@communityyouthservices.org

Scott Hanauer at (360) 943-0780 x101 or shanauer@communityyouthservices.org

Please note childcare will not be provided,
this also applies to CYS youth & families